

Home Learning Tasks – Week beginning 1st June

This week we are thinking about our new topic, Wonderful Water! To begin with, we are thinking about the many different uses of water. Adults, please feel free to try some of the following activities with your children:

Talk to your child about different ways in which you use water at home & how it is used in the wider world. How many ways can you think of? You could model writing a list and they could make marks or write some letters for their own list.

Look at the pictures of water use in this week's resources – how many did you guess? Talk about the pictures – how is water used in different ways here, and who uses it? Can you think of any more uses?

Try some experiments with water: How many cups of water does it take to fill a jug? Try with a different sized cup or jug – how does the number change?

You could try filling a bowl with water and then dropping different objects into the bowl. Which objects float and which ones sink? You could make a chart to show your results.

Try doing some mark marking with water! Take a bowl of water and some paintbrushes outside and see what lovely pictures and patterns you can draw on the ground. Can you write your name and practise some letters and numbers? What happens to your drawings after a while?
